THRILLING HOLD-UP BY BOLD BANDITS

J. E. Mulkare Reports Hairbreadth Escape on Thirtyseventh Street.

That bold bandits were abroad in Georgetown and that he escaped from a band of them only through hercu lean efforts and fast driving, was the thrilling story told to the police by J. E. Mulkare, of 1303 H street, who drove apidly all the way from Georgetown to headquarters late at night in order o impart the news.

After an investigation, the police of the Seventh precinct have refused to become alarmed, and place another con struction on the supposed near midnight hold-up, which Mr. Mulkare says occurred on the New Cut road near Thirty-seventh street Tuesday night

According to Mr. Mulkare, he was returning to the city from a country drive when the woods seemed suddenly alive with highwaymen, four seeming to stand in the very front row of the chorus. Emitting various cries of alarm. Mr. Mulkare broke all speed records down M street, thence down the Avenue, and right direct to Police Head-quarters, where he told in frightened gasps of the attempted hold-up.

Naturally, the police investigated. Note the result thereof, as set forth by No. 7 precinct, detailed to ferre the mystery.

The police found that on the night in question four Georgetown youths were sitting by the roadside, near the Western High School. Baseball was the topic of conversation, until Mr. Mulkare's cries alarmed the quartet According to the young men, the first they knew of Mr. Mulkare was when he began to yell "murder," "police," "robbers," and other complimentary words. The man in the buggy begged to be let alone, setting forth in emphatic tones that he had no valuables The youths endeavored to explain after their surprise had abated, but the man in the buggy could hear not a word Seeing the way clear, he laid whip, and a few moments later rounded up at headquarters.

The young men who burst into Mr Mulkare's enemy class within a night were William Taylor, 3246 Q street; Joseph W. Allen, 3421 R street; Frank Walling, 1609 Wiscon's in avenue, and Frank Holf, Thirty-fifth and R streets. The boys are all of law-abiding dispositions, and have been teased unmercifully by friends since the affair occurred.

The first excursion of the year is be ing given today under the auspices of the Georgetown Camp, No. 12,580, Modern Woodmen of America. Great Falls Va., is the scene of the gathering. Among the events there will be racing and ball playing. A baseball game w! be played between Lincoln Camp vs. Georgetown Camp; tug-of-war, between West End Camp and Georgetown Camp; quoit match, Talbot Camp vs. Georgetown Camp. There will also be dancing During dance intermissions there will ert numbers rendered by the best

Mr. Stohlman was severely injured in a fall received while on a launch at Colton, Va., about ten days ago. INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE.

Gurley pulled up on Advent yesterday by defeating Manhattans in a good game by 7 to 3. Manhattans did not play the game expected of them, and

Gurley did not start scoring until the third round, after Manhattans had rushed three runs across the pan in the opener, but after that got busy and scored almost at will. Four runs were garnered in the seventh, one a homer by Donnelly, but as darkness fell upon the scene the game reverted back to even innings, and the quartet of tallies did not court

Donnelly showed a return to form with the stick. He clouted out a triple and a single, and got a homer in the seventh, but the four-sacker was not allowed, as the score went back to the civth tuning.

Sissler had three assists in left field. His throwing was accurate, but he made two miscues that spoiled a good record.

Buckley's fielding was excellent. He accepted eight chances, some of his fielding on ground balls being spectac-

Davis showed the goods as a flinger. Manhattans could connect but three times, while eight were set down by strikes and but one reached first base by a pass.

which many of the Interstate clerks have been waiting.

Balzer was the overnight selection for the box as far as Interstate is concerned, and his work has been exectlent, Columbia only obtaining four hits off him in the first contest netween these two teams. Meister or Gallagher will twirl for the Columbians, and as both of these men are going in fine shape, the Interstaters will have trouble. Litchfield was the first selection against the departmental men, but he was tapped for ten hirs, and it was deemed advisable to give some of the righthanders a chance against the strong aggregation.
